

C O U N C I L F O R

The Council for Citizens Against Government Waste commends Chairman Smith for introducing the COMPETES Act, which would prioritize the expenditure of taxpayer dollars on scientific research. For far too long, money has been spent inefficiently and ineffectively, while redundant and unnecessary rules and regulations have forced scientists to spend almost as much time on reports as they do on their work. The legislation should be supported by every member of the House.

Tom Schatz

A handwritten signature in black ink that reads "Tom Schatz".

President
Council for Citizens Against Government Waste